

“Be open to growth all our lives”

All our activities are rooted in prayer, and in the spirituality and tradition of the congregation. We have at heart to “be open to growth all our lives”.

Several sisters are attentive to the youth of today in quest of a meaning to their life.

Others are sensitive to current forms of distress: drug-addicts, prostitutes, prisoners and families, homeless.

Other sisters dedicate much time to the isolated, the sick, people in difficulty, visiting them or taking part in denominational or non denomination associations.

Others still work towards more justice, non violence and respect for creation.

Weekends are regularly organized to broaden our outlook on today's world issues and thus prompt us to more effectively involve ourselves in the various modes of presence for which we care
